

3.2.2.3.2.22 Circumventing law

As good lawyers know, you can have everything you need, or want, without breaking the law. Laws differ from place to place. What is perfectly OK in one country can deliver a man to the hangman's noose in another.

Laws change, and people have short memories. That a behavior has been condoned traditionally is no protection against laws that subsequently criminalize it.